So You Think You Can Judge?

Lorna Maseko-Lukhele (Dance 2000) and Themba Nofemele will be accompanying Harold van Buuren at the judges' table for the third season of So You Think You Can Dance.

She is a South African ballet dancer, choreographer, MC and television presenter best known as a presenter on the SABC3 lifestyle magazine programme Top Billing.

Credited as the first professional ballet dancer of colour in South Africa, Maseko-Lukhele grew up in Alexandra township. Originally contracted at Ballet Theatre Afrikan, she later joined the South African Ballet Theatre company.

In 2007 she left ballet to pursue a television career, joining the SABC as a presenter and a producer on a show called Afro Showbiz News for SABC Africa. While working there she entered the first ever Top Billing Presenter Search and made it to the Top 10.

She also co-hosted and produced a live current affairs, magazine breakfast show, The Weekender on SABC News International.

She left her presenting gig in 2009 and started her own Events and Lifestyle Management company, before being asked by Top Billing to film a segment for the 2010 World Cup. After that, she landed a regular contract on the show.

After several television and event appearances in the ensuing years, she was named as a judge on the SABC1 reality competition show So You Think You Can Dance, in 2013.

To dance is to be out of yourself. Larger, more beautiful, more powerful. This is power, it is glory on earth and it is yours for the taking.

Emmanuel: Rhythm City's New Recruit

Nkosiphendule Cengani (Grade 11 Drama) plays the role of Emmanuel, Kop's young recruit, who's taken up boxing after being bullied. He is originally from the Eastern Cape in uMthatha.

How did you get into acting?

I'm an avid movie watcher, and around 2006 I fell in love with acting. In 2008 I decided to pursue my love for acting by taking up children's drama classes at the State Theatre in Pretoria. This year I joined The National School of Arts in Braamfontein, which is a high school specialising in arts, where I'm doing Grade 11 now.

Is this your first acting gig?

No, but this is my first big break. I had cameo roles on Room 9 where I played the character of Elias, a swimmer. On 4Play: Sex Tips For Girls I played an orphan with HIV.

What's it been like working on the Rhythm City set?

I'm loving it! It's been a learning experience, I've learnt a lot from the cast and production team, everything from analysing a script to getting into character.

According to Stand Up and Stop Bullying in South Africa, approximately 40% to 80% of school-age children experience bullying at some point during their school careers.

Charlize Theron (Dance 1990) is a woman on a mission. The South African-born beauty has once again put her star power to good use by pledging to help with the fight against HIV and AIDS in her home country. Meeting with South African President Jacob Zuma in Pretoria on Monday in her capacity as an ambassador for the United Nations program on AIDS, the actress says she believes the potential to usher in an AIDS-free generation is a real possibility under Zuma's leadership.

ARIA-nominated vocalist Fem Belling (Music 1996) and Josh Levi thrilled the Melbourne Cabaret Festival with an intimate, jazzy show.

Fem is a leading lady of London's West End, well remembered for her portrayal of Liza Minnelli in The Boy From Oz, and Josh has written songs performed by many a cabaret star, including Ali McGregor and Chelsea Plumley.

Angel's Song premiered on Mzansi Wethu on Wednesday 7 August 2013, at 19h00.

FROM DUSTY TOWNSHIP STREETS

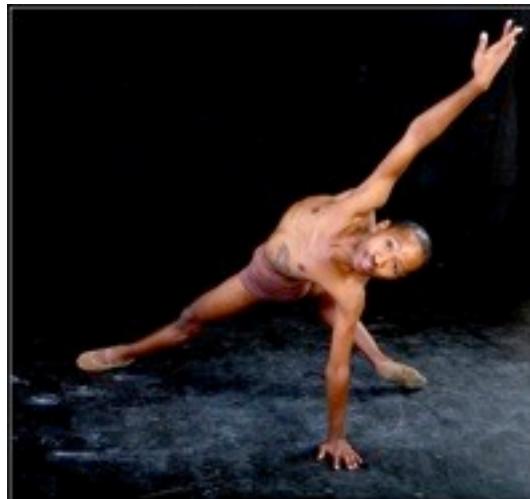

Vaalweekblad, By Mathebula Mduduzi, 2013-07-22

Born and bred in the township of Sharpeville, Keke Chele (Drama 2005) matriculated at The National School of the Arts. A ballet dancer from the dusty streets of Sharpeville surely seemed improbable, but Chele managed to make his mark in this Fine Art industry.

Just after matriculating he registered at the Tshwane University of Technology. As a student he was involved in numerous productions such as Sweet Charity, Ragtime The Musical and Urinetown.

"In my final year, I was cast as an ensemble dancer in the Black Tie Ensemble's opera production of The Merry Widow choreographed by Mark Hawkins, one of the veterans in dance," says Chele.

He also boasts a B-Tech Degree in Musical Theatre, majoring in Dance Performance and Teaching. He was appointed as teacher and studio co-ordinator at Monnyth Dance House, of the South African State Theatre.

His talent lead to international productions. He spent four months with the Daksha Sheth Dance Company in India.

Back in South Africa his talent was once again put to good use, and most recently he was part of the Corps de Ballet in the South African Ballet Theatre's Giselle and also played Pasha in the South African Mzansi Ballet Le Corsaire.

New England Conservatory is delighted to announce Eriel Huang (Music 2003) as one of the 10 members of the fifth class of its Sistema Fellows Program. With Fellows hailing from Asia, Africa, Europe, and the US, it is the most international of the classes to date. Operated through NEC's Department of Continuing Education, the one-year certificate-granting program provides each Fellow with a full scholarship and a monthly stipend to offset living expenses.

Eriel has toured as concertmaster with several ensembles, performed in Europe with the South African National Youth Orchestra, and she has also appeared on stage in Taiwan and China. Since 2008, she has been the electric violinist for Sterling EQ, performing over 100 shows and charity events annually. This award-winning band released its third studio album, produced by EMI, in 2012.

Kamogelo Nche (Dance 2012) is one of the finalists for the 2013 ACT | DALRO | Nedbank Performing Arts Scholarships. The finalists will compete to win one of three performing arts scholarships, with a combined value of R315 000. Kamogelo has been nurturing a passion for dance since a very young age. He started off with honing his skills as a street dancer and he subsequently fell in love with ballet and contemporary dance. He appeared in numerous plays and dance productions and has his sights set on pursuing Musical Theatre training after completing Grade 12.

Zoey'z Fallacy (Jon Pedrosa - Cont Music 2003, Ryan Eddy - Cont Music 2003) and Marco Jorge Martins (Cont Music 2006) thrives on a well rounded, commercial melodic sound. This includes elements of pop/rock and indie/rock. The core and strength of the band, lies in high quality song writing, and its ability to communicate and capture emotional experience. The band has a electrifying presence on stage.

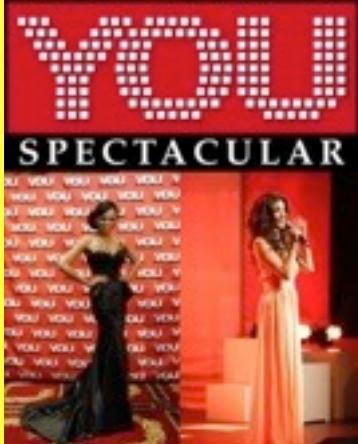

Naledi Dweba (Music Grade 11) came second in the Philip Moore Competition (31 Aug at Jeppestown High). Well done!

Naledi: I am so excited to have made it through to the finals of the Philip H Moore Competition 2013. It shows that hard work truly pays off. Thanks to the people who were there for me especially Elzabe Zietsman, she is always there for me just like a mother. Thanks to my accompanist Marten van Wyk and my clarinet teacher Mrs. Jana Barnard. We need to appreciate small thanks that people do for us but when people encourage and support me through my hard work then I know that I have done my job and give much appreciation to who are there for me.

The NSA String Ensemble received an honours diploma at the recent Eisteddfod.

Belinda Nusser (Dance 1994): Her latest work, "The Deep and Lovely Quiet" will make its debut in September at "CELEBRATION 5". Performances are at the Joburg Theatre on September 20, 21 and 28 at 7.30pm. Book at Joburg Theatre, 0861 670 670 or joburgtheatre.com. This season then travels to the Joseph Stone Theatre in Cape Town on September 24 and 25.

Some of Nusser's formative training as a dancer took place over the road in Hoofd Street at The National School of the Arts followed by three months at the John Cranko Ballet School in Stuttgart.

Her professional dancing career, which is still in full swing, began in South Africa with Adele Blank's Free Flight Dance Company, Debbie Rakusin and David Matamela's Vusa Dance Company and the State Theatre Dance Company where she blossomed as an intelligent virtuoso performer.

Before Nusser made a piece in Malmo in 2010 she had already put on her choreographic spurs for Esther Nasser's Jozi Dance Company with Assignment: What? (2007) and Phase 5 Confronted (2008) for Mzansi Productions, both of which received Gauteng MEC Award nominations.

Jessica Ball (Cont Music 2008): Born in North Wales and having grown up in South Africa, Jessica's music career started in 2006 where she attended the National School of Arts in Johannesburg, studying Contemporary Music. In 2010, she arrived back in Wales to pursue her singing career. Since then, Jessica's original music has received national radio airplay and media coverage as a solo artist and as part of her band, Warsisters. She has appeared twice at Focus Wales festival and performs gigs regularly throughout Wales and England. Jessica is also a renowned guitar tutor, providing lessons in the North Wales area.
