

Katleho Mokhosi (Drama 2008) is currently the Secretary of the Wits Law Students Council 2012/13 and he has been working on the law school magazine, The Summons: Official WITS Law School Student's Magazine.

"After I graduate from the Wits Law school with my LLB degree I would like to do my pupillage at the Cape Bar. Besides that, I would like to be an entrepreneur and be my own boss. Another passion of mine is entertainment law. I did my high school at The National School of the Arts so I know that there are many artists who need lawyers. They often get the raw end of the deal when entering into contracts as they do not understand the legal jargon that is used in contracts. Helping children from disadvantaged backgrounds is something I am very passionate about. I would like to someday be able to set up a trust fund where I fund tertiary education for disadvantaged children who come from impoverished backgrounds."

Eileen Hargreaves: "Congratulations on your achievements. My daughter, Samantha, was a Dance student in 1985. I have always admired students in all the mediums, as even if they move on to other fields, as has she, they are invariably successful. Your oratory training will be of great benefit to you in your chosen field. Good luck!"

The guitar has been suffering over the last few years. Enter Dan Patlansky (Cont Music 2000) and his latest album, Wooden Thoughts. This is an album that will save serious music lovers from despair.

It is his first acoustic album and his sixth album over all. Patlansky is considered one of the best blues guitarists in the country with only Albert Frost as his main rival. Wooden Thoughts consists of Leonard Cohen and Bob Dylan covers, as well as his original music. It also contains his first radio friendly track.

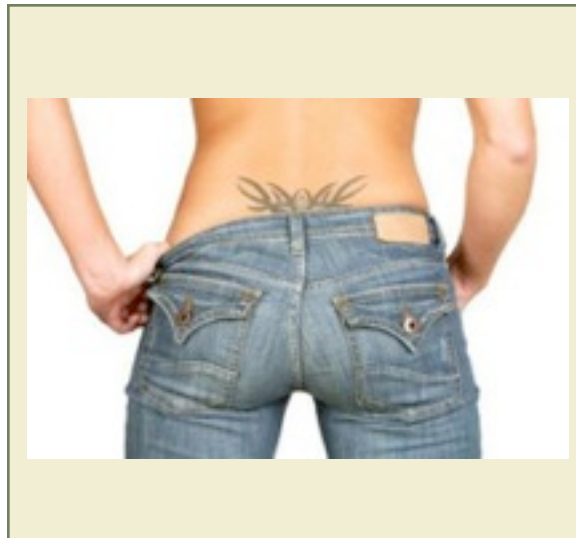

Over a late breakfast Patlansky explains how his life has changed since the release of his previous album, 20 Stones.

The album was in the Top 10 blues albums for 2012 in the world renowned magazine, Blues Rock Review.

With Wooden Thoughts, Patlansky has outdone himself and produced a work of art that can only be created on a guitar. For some real music with great lyrics, give Wooden Thoughts a listen.

Diani Gernandt nee Joubert (Dance 2000) began her career shortly after completing her studies at The National School of the Arts, when she joined the acclaimed South African Ballet Theatre. From classical ballet she moved on to the contemporary dance genre, joining the Fantastic Flying Fish Dance Company in Durban for some time.

Diani found herself greatly privileged to make her debut into the world of musical theatre as part of the momentous production of Chicago - the Musical. During a season of performing with the cast of the Coral Princess Cruise Liners; she performed in a variety of vibrant productions. Diani is currently in roller-skate training for the first ever South African production of Starlight Express in 2013, for which she is delighted to serve as joint Dance Captain. Diani can be seen as featured dancer in the 50's Afrikaans Musical feature film – Pretville, released Nov 2012, where she also acted as Assistant Choreographer on the project. The 2012 KykNET's Silwerskerm Filmfees, saw Diani in a new capacity as Assistant Director on a short film screenplay Uit die Kaskenades, which was one of 10 films commissioned from 450 other entries. For 3 years, Diani fulfilled the role of Artistic Ambassador at Mosaïek in Fairland, where she co-created, choreographed and directed several productions and events. Diani has completed a BCom Marketing Degree and is the co-owner of FADCreationS. FADCreationS' passion, focus and calling is the development and encouragement of our up-and-coming young artists; to provide multiple platforms for their training and to nurture the creative talents that will undoubtedly become the future of our industry in South Africa. This accomplished artist can also be found applying her skills and craft as talented actress, presenter and voice artist.

Tulsa Pittaway (Music 1992) was born on Dec 9, 1974 in Harare, Zimbabwe. His parents immigrated to South Africa while he was still an infant where he grew up and attended school. Having been born into an artistic family he was surrounded by music from a very early age and played his first club gig professionally when he was 14.

In 1988 he joined the Park Town Boys High School Cadet band as a side drummer where he received his first formal musical training with renowned world champion drummer Jeff Owen. This foundation was a cornerstone in Tulsa's musical career. A year later he moved to The National School of The Arts where he majored in orchestral percussion with piano as his second instrument. In 1992 he graduated with a distinction in percussion and went on to join the South African Army senior staff band as a drummer and percussionist where he was eventually promoted to the position of section leader

In January 2000 Tulsa joined the band Watershed, recording two full albums and touring both locally and abroad. During this time Tulsa was awarded 2 Gold and 1 Platinum Sales Awards from EMI South Africa.

Tulsa has performed with international artists such as Kim Leanne and has performed alongside artists such as The Cranberries, David Grey, Evanescence, 3 Doors Down, Stained and Hoobastank, Snow Patrol and Oasis.

In February 2007, Tulsa joined EVOLVER who continue to promote, record and tour.

In August of 2008, Tulsa released a debut solo album titled "All You Have".

Lovilee Interview with Genevieve Crystal Myburgh nee Fundaro (Art 2004)

How did you become a photographer?

I think Photography has always been a part of my life. I can remember still being in diapers and my Oupa following me around with his Canon T90 and telling me how he spent years taking wedding photos in the "old" days. When I was 11 and got my first camera, a silly little "mik n drik" film camera that had me spending all my pocket money on film and getting the photos developed, being at The National School of Arts making a pin hole camera in my first lesson and then falling in love with the Darkroom process. Also being at University and having Photography as an additional subject that had me so inspired I used to spend more time on the Photography projects than on my actual subjects.

I also modelled for a while which taught me so much about what the photographer actually wants and finally, inheriting my beloved Uncle Craig's camera, a Minolta 7xi which was the beginning of my journey to becoming a professional photographer.
